Hello Peeps of New York City:

OMG, let me tell you about last night. I still can't get over the fact that I was part of a high-society birthday photo-shoot and party. I would have never imagined to be experiencing a night similar to one of those famous "Blaire Waldorf" parties from "Gossip girl". How exiting and absurd at the same time.

If you had asked me earlier today what my plans were for tonight, I would have said, "I am going to see my dear friend to celebrate her birthday with her and a couple of friends."

Well, this is correct, NYC you rock! You still surprise me! The moment I walked through the party entrance, I was fascinated by the appealing aesthetic to my eye. On the outside was NYC. On the inside, I found painted ceilings with Greek goddesses that reminded me of Europe and a fireplace adorned with lots of oversized candles... amazing!

"Happy Birthday," were the only words I could say to my dear friend before I was charged to help decorate the birthday table replete with organic macarons and accoutrements especially made for this event by Victor Pucha, Andre Mendoza (Arriba Gold Chocolate) and Alex Navarrete Yerena.

"Hold on," I said to myself. "I am in charge of creating the tea-party atmosphere needed for the photo shoot. Yes, that's right, me. Oh boy... no clue what to do.... no time to think.... just decorate the table."

Done.

Next, I found myself hopping out my clothes and into a beautiful dress made by the charismatic fashion designer: Olga Papkovitch. One look in the mirror and I became a character in "The Great Gatsby".

"Leo, where are you?" I dreamt. "I am ready to dance with you"

I was accepting Leo's invitation to dance when my fantasy popped like an old-fashioned-camera flash bulb. A photographer took my picture just as I and my friend entered the living room.

"Smile", she said.

My friend is the best. What a fantastic night!

Have a look at the photos and allow yourself to feel the moment of getting swept away into another world. Feel the magic!
